Description: Keibu was a female anooba and companion of the Kyuzo bounty hunter Embo during the New Republic Era.

History

Hunting the hunter

At some point, Embo obtained Keibu after his previous anooba, Marrok, died by 3 ABY.

Keibu was with Embo at some point during or after 11 ABY when the bounty hunter went to Nevarro to capture the Mandalorian Din Djarin for breaking his agreement with the Hutt Twins, as well as to bring their nephew Rotta the Hutt.

After capturing Rotta, Keibu accompanied Embo to Djarin's cabin. At night the Blurrgs sensed both intruders, where Embo lured him away from Grogu and the Anzellan Droidsmiths, with the five escaping through a trapdoor but Keibu managed to catch one of the Anzellans, Minch, and brought him to Embo, who then summoned his ship, the Guillotine.

As Djarin woke up, Keibu was playing with Minch. Djarin managed to lure Keibu away using one of Grogu's treats, before urging Minch into his cell. However, Keibu noticed and attempted to attack Minch from the other side of the bars. Embo heard this commotion and ordered Keibu to sit near the cockpit doors as Djarin attempted to negotiate his release, only for the Kyuzo to shock him unconscious.

After arriving on Nal Hutta, Keibu followed Embo as he took Djarin to the Hutt Palace, inside of which Embo was congratulated by the pair and one of the Twins' hired mercenary sentry droids paid Embo, before he left with Keibu.

Hiding in plain sight

A few days later, Djarin had escaped but was crippled by dragonsnake venom. To make matters worse, the Twins had dispatched the forces of the Droid Gotra and their Amani warriors to find Djarin, but Grogu managed to hide him in a makeshift mud hut. Keibu and Embo found a camp owned by a local alien fisher named Gatori. As Embo questioned the fisher, Keibu sensed something was off, and went to investigate one of the crates, behind which Grogu was hiding. But before she could find Grogu, Gatori covered for him by telling Keibu to get away from his fish, to which Embo called her off and the pair left to continue hunting Djarin.

Showdown

After Djarin recovered, he found a crashed TR-RL3 Terrapin-class bulk tanker in a swamp and piloted the starship to the palace, where he and Grogu fought through Droid Gotra forces onboard a Single Trooper Aerial Platform. When Djarin made it to the throne room, he attempted to kill the Twins with his new Amban phase-pulse blaster but found himself confronted by Keibu and Embo. As Embo fought Djarin and Rotta fought the Twins, Keibu attempted to eat Grogu, but the foundling used the Force to calm her down, despite her initial resistance. Keibu allowed herself to calm down and to be petted by Grogu, until Embo was stunned by Djarin's prongs on his Amban rifle, which instantly agitated Keibu and caused her to run to her master's side. Soon after, Rotta destroyed the trapdoor underneath them, which made the Twins, Embo, and Keibu fall into the dragonsnake pit. While Rotta was saved by Grogu, the Twins were eaten alive by their own dragonsnake and Embo and Keibu escaped together through a tunnel Grogu made earlier. The pair left before more droids led by Arges burst through the throne room's doors, and before the palace was destroyed by New Republic X-Wing fighters.
