Planets D6 / Bibin

Name: Bibin
Atmosphere: Breathable
Affiliation: Bibin Defense Fleet
Places of Interest: Mining region

Description: Bibin was a moon that contained meteorites, forged into Asteroid ships by the miners lead by coal miner Kwana, who lived among the meteorites. On the moon, Bibin's lord was Lady Tafflah, who later becomes a Jedi upon ending the war from Nawaam's conquest. However, due to the Kyber crystal cannon's power nearly destroying Bibin's planet, pieces of it destroyed what remains of Bibin, and forcing the people and Lady Tafflah to relocate to another world in order to rebuild the kingdom.

Description
The moon was primarily inhabited by a humanoid sentient race like Kwana, who were characterized by pointed ears and the males being particularly short-statured. Bibin's work force consisted primarily of asteroid miners who made use of ships constructed out of hollowed-out asteroids.

History
Years ago, Jedi Master Reno Tsutara attempted to establish the struggling and fragmented Jedi Order on the moon, opening a school and taking in numerous younglings to begin training. At the time, Bibin was an impoverished and obscure world with no real government or trade connections. After the arrival of Master Tsutara, the fledgling Grandmaster took it upon himself to create connections with major local trade networks, even going as far as kidnapping members of their leadership before staging the following events events to make the organizations look upon Jedi favorably. He then selected new leaders within their ranks sympathetic to the Jedi, causing trade and business on Bibin to grow exponentially. Lah Zhima, an expert duelist and former padawan of Tsutara, discovered his masters corrupt deeds and felt it was not the place of the Jedi to meddle in politics. He attempted to leave, but Reno pursued, initiating a conflict that ended in Lah Zhima killing him in-front of a crowd. Without the proper context, the people turned against the Jedi, causing the small order gathered on Bibin to be disbanded.

Decades later, a former Padawan from Bibin named Juro, now a Jedi Master, returned with his own students in the hopes of enlisting the aid of the locals in their fight against General Nawaam and his army with the goal of restoring the Jedi Order and preventing another dark age. During this, Nawaam attempted to use his super weapon the Kyber crystal cannon to publicly destroy Bibin, broadcasted to the entire galaxy for its history of harboring Jedi, serving as a warning of the consequences to any who did the same. However, thanks to Lah Zhima's interference, the cannons' shot missed, striking the side of Bibin's planet. This still proved disastrous as the strike caused large chunks of the planet to crash onto the surface of Bibin, forcing its people along with Lady Tafflah, Juro, and his disciples, to evacuate the inhabitants of the moon elsewhere to rebuild their civilization.

Places of Interest

Mining region

The mining region was an area in the Bibin system where asteroids were mined. A group of Jedi led by Margrave Juro landed within an asteroid in the mining region in hopes of recruiting the miners to aid them against General Nawaam.

Bibin Royal Palace

The Bibin Royal Palace was located on the moon Bibin, which was ruled by Lady Tafflah. Around 234 BBY, an off-target shot from the kyber crystal cannon superweapon struck the gas giant Talos, which Bibin orbited, devastating the moon and leaving the palace in ruins.

Royal Hangar

The royal hangar was a hangar in the moon Bibin's royal palace. It had an underground maintenance deck. The Jedi Lah Kara and Juro rescued Lady Tafflah after the hangar collapsed while she was attempting to secure a starship.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.