

Planets D6 / Palan

Palan

Palan is an uninhabited world that lays in the out-skirts of the Palvar

Sector. Kashan Systems took notice of the planet due to the massive amount of natural resources located kilometers below the surface.

Unfortunately for Kashan Systems, an out of sector corporation, MetaCorp, had heard rumors of the resources on Palan and claimed it as theirs. Aarlis Nacirem, owner of Kashan Systems and commanding officer of the Palvar Defense Force, cited this to be an invasion of the Palvar Sector and a threat to its sovereignty, immediately deploying a military force to the planet.

The "Battle of Palan" has been raging on for nearly four years now with both sides heavily entrenched in fortified locations. During the course of the four years only a few hundred meters of land have been gained or lost by either side, making it pretty much a stalemate.
