Description: Mawhonic was a Gran male podracer pilot who participated in the Boonta Eve Classic that took place during the year 32 BBY. Mawhonic's GPE-3130 Podracer was destroyed by the nefarious Dug competitor Sebulba—whom Mawhonic was considered to be a capable rival towards—during the first lap of the race, abruptly ending the Gran's chances at victory.

A middle-class Gran male from the planet Hok, Mawhonic was a professional podracer pilot during the waning decades of the Galactic Republic. Mawhonic piloted a green podracer which was maintained by several Gran mechanics. During the year 32 BBY, the planet Tatooine was celebrating the Boonta Eve holiday, which traditionally hosted the Boonta Eve Classic podrace. Mawhonic entered the competition, and started the race on the nearside pole-position, which offered him a good start into the race. Before the race began, Mawhonic prepared his podracer with the help of his mechanics, but paused to greet the cheering audience when the race commentators, Fode and Beed, introduced Mawhonic to the crowd. Shortly after, the race's host, Jabba the Hutt, officially began the race.

During the first lap Mawhonic was neck and neck with the Dug Sebulba, the Boonta crowd's favorite. Although fans considered Mawhonic to be a capable challenger to Sebulba's reign, he flew dangerously close to a rock wall and gave Sebulba the opportunity to smash the three-eyed alien out of the race. Sebulba, after leading the race for two consecutive laps, would later crash at the end of the final lap, only a short distance from the finish line.

Personality and traits
During the Boonta Eve Classic, Mawhonic acted ill-tempered, and angrily yelled and shook a fist at Sebulba when the Dug began to play rough. Despite this, Mawhonic was a good pilot, having the skills and reflexes one would need in a sport such as podracing. Once Mawhonic got in front of the pack, he managed to stay ahead of the other racers until he was knocked out of the race by Sebulba. Like all Gran, Mawhonic had three eyes, all of which were black. He also exhibited pale orange skin and stood at 1.22 meters tall.

Equipment
Mawhonic flew a green colored podracer that was kept in working order by several Gran mechanics and Mawhonic himself. It was a sturdy craft, and was able to withstand several hits from Sebulba's much larger podracer. However, it eventually succumbed to the Dug's attacks after repeated battering. Mawhonic's cockpit was very open, and did not enclose the Gran at all. The podracer was fast, and also benefitted from above average handling. The podracer had a decent turbo package, which would grant the vehicle extra bursts of speed when Mawhonic needed it.
