*: The Rotary Blaster Cannons high rate of fire means that its users can lay out a virtual wall of fire, this combined with the built in recoil compensation allows the user to make his first 3 shots without multiple action penalties, however the recoil compensation also absorbs some of the operators body movement making it much harder to dodge giving opponents a bonus 2D to hit them. The ammunition is stored in a backpack which must also be worn, meaning spare ammunition cannot be carried and it requires significant time to connect weapon up to a spare ammunition container even if one is available.

Description: A Vulk TAU-6-23 "Blastmill" rotary blaster cannon was a blaster cannon used by the Gigoran mercenary Moroff. They were among the weapons purchased by Masse Goskey and Ephant Mon for sale at Masse Goskey's Arms Emporium and Explosives Mart.
