Planets D6 / Observatory Moon

Name: Observatory Moon
Class: Terrestrial
Atmosphere: Type I (breathable)
Climate: Cold
Terrain: Rocky

Description: The Observatory Moon was a moon that orbited a gas giant planet and was home to an observatory operated by Kh'ymm. Around 9 ABY, Jod Na Nawood, whom Kh'ymm knew as Crimson Jack, brought a group of lost children to the observatory moon in hope that Kh'ymm could guide them to their planet of At Attin. Kh'ymm assisted the children, but she also called in a pair of New Republic X-wings to arrest Nawood, leading him and the children to escape with the supposed coordinates of the planet.

Places of Interest
Kh'ymm's observatory
Kh'ymm's observatory was an ancient telescopic array on the Observatory Moon that was operated by the alien Kh'ymm during the New Republic Era.
During 9 ABY, the crew of the Onyx Cinder visited Kh'ymm at the array as part of their search for a way back home to At Attin. Using her archive at the array she was able to find what she believed were the coordinates for At Attin, however they turned out to be the coordinates to At Achrann.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.